

Says

What have we heard them say?
What can we imagine them saying?

Thinks

Need minimum human interaction
Housing is an important subject for any economy

Property prices in India are expected to increase 7.5% on a pan-India basis this year, the fastest growth in five years, according to a Reuters poll of property analysts

the housing market is single and not segmented, and their absolute prices should converge

Property prices in India are expected to increase 7.5% on a pan-India basis this year

These conventional convergence methods do not perform well in the presence of heterogeneous transitional behaviour of cross-sections

In real terms, house prices in India have continued the slump even after the outbreak of covid-19

swetha
analysing houseing price in metropolitan areas of india

Short summary of the persona house prices in one location in India cannot impose a competitive constraint on house prices in other location,

The data coverage was further expanded in order to increase and expand the coverage of Residex and also the frequency of updating,

i feel that the housing prices are always higher from one city to another so lack of problems found

Based on an average per square meter price for three FSA category houses in each ward/zone, price-relatives are calculated for each quarter.

Therefore, the management department in government can take some measures to control the housing prices from these main influential factors, and make the real estate market healthy functioning properly.

The Indian census defines urbanization as a process wherein towns and cities with 5000 for more people reside in urban areas while meeting other criteria as specified in the Census

Does

What behavior have we observed?
What can we imagine them doing?

Feels

What are their fears, frustrations, and anxieties?
What other feelings might influence their behavior?